Guidance for those with alternative qualifications

Applicants with alternative qualifications should contact the Admissions Office of the university/college of their choice for further advice on what courses to undertake or to check if the qualifications they hold will be accepted as equivalent.

Points to consider

Driving licence (access to transport)

Students are strongly advised to hold a current driving licence or have access to a form of transport to attend their practice learning placements. Students cannot be guaranteed a Practice Learning Placement close to their home or institution and may need to travel.

Interview - Assessment of applicant's suitability to train to be a social worker

As well as meeting academic entry requirements, all applicants being considered for a place on the Degree course in NI will be interviewed to assess their potential to train as a social worker at degree level. All applicants are therefore advised to have some relevant experience. This may include: life experience, voluntary work, paid work or a mixture of all three.

Mature Students

Candidates with substantial experience in social care, or a related career, but holding alternative qualifications such as access courses are encouraged to apply if they meet the current entry criteria for the Degree. These students will need to demonstrate their potential to study at honours degree level and their applications will be considered on an individual basis.

Students with a Disability

Increasing numbers of people with a disability are expressing an interest in the Degree. As social work is a demanding occupation and will require a range of physical abilities to undertake the role, it is advisable to discuss your prospective application with the academic institution.

All higher academic institutions have support services in place to help students with a disability take full advantage of higher education opportunities. Student support workers are employed to provide information on what is available for students with a disability including eligibility for funding from the Disabled Students Allowance (DSA) or any other appropriate source of funding. More information about DSA can be obtained by logging on to www.studentfinancenl.co.uk.

Suitability for social work training in NI– Personal Statement & Interview

The following process will then be applied to each applicant who has met the university/institution academic entry requirements.

Stage 1: Suitability for training for social work - 600-word personal statement (completed under exam conditions from Sept 2016)

Stage 2: Suitability for training for social work – interview

The interview is a two stage process including; a case study and a formal interview. The process aims to assess if the applicant has the skills, qualities and understanding required to train to be a social worker at Degree level. Applicants are given time to review the case study prior to the interview and 2 out of the 6 questions will be about the case study. The interview provides the opportunity to highlight any practical/personal experience and knowledge they have about social work and applicants should aim to make links between their relevant experience and social work practice. Advice on preparing for interviews for the Degree in Social Work is available in the Degree Partnership section and Careers section.
