At Ulster University, we are committed to delivering a university experience that prepares individuals for success at each stage of their careers and future lives.

The Ulster Graduate Attributes framework has been created to support the University in the delivery of its educational strategy and specifically, the student learning experience.

We have embedded the Ulster Graduate Attributes into our courses to ensure that no matter your future aspirations or career, you are able to meet the challenge.

Ulster University Graduate Attributes

- Engaged Learner: Someone who is knowledgeable and able to deepen their understanding about their subject and the world.

- Collaborative Professional: Someone who is able to contribute to society widely and especially in their field of knowledge.

Active and collaborative learning is central to our teaching practice at Ulster, and our innovative learning and teaching spaces are designed to facilitate “learning by doing” and working with other students, both in and out of the classroom. We are an on-campus institution enhanced by a sector-leading digital learning environment, and the opportunities this provides to elevate the academic experience for all students.

We value diversity in students and educators. As a result, you can expect to experience a range of teaching approaches throughout your course including: seminars, lectures, workshops, tutorials, group work, project-based learning, enquiry-based learning, and research-informed teaching, supplemented with self-directed study.

You will develop the future skills and graduate attributes employers seek through work-based learning, placement opportunities, and embedded employability. You will also have access to wide-ranging extra-curricular activities through the Ulster EDGE and EDGE Excel Award.

You will learn in state-of-the-art facilities with industry-standard equipment. Our architecture super-studio, award-winning student-run restaurant, TV studios, financial trading room, laboratories, art workshops, on-campus optometry clinic, and model pharmacy are just some examples of how you benefit from our investment in facilities which mirror what you will experience when you graduate.

Each campus has its own library and students can access all facilities, no matter which location they are based at. There are designated quiet zones, as well as collaborative spaces and learning areas. Take advantage of our 24-hour computer labs and printing services, and access eBooks and journals wherever you are. Our library staff are always willing to help you get the most out of our facilities.

Exams feature in some, but not all courses. Regular feedback is provided, helping you to further develop your skills and knowledge, and to feed into future assignments and professional practice.

Ulster University is at the forefront of learning innovation with over 80% of our teaching staff holding fellowship of the Higher Education Academy. More than 30 of our staff have been recognised nationally for their outstanding learning and teaching practice with National Teaching Fellowships.

Our work in the digital learning space is also nationally recognised, with our Centre for Digital Learning Enhancement, and School of Nursing and Paramedic Science have received The Collaborative Award for Teaching Excellence (CATE), showcasing how our innovative approach has had a demonstrable impact on teaching and learning.
Learning by doing

We are committed to delivering industry-relevant education, taught by staff at the forefront of learning and teaching innovation.

We work closely with employers and professional bodies to develop our courses. This ensures our courses are relevant and, where possible, offer the professional qualifications and accreditations most desired by employers. This is even more important now as industries are transforming at an unprecedented speed, and employers are actively seeking employees with the skills and competencies to lead, adapt, and inspire.

How our course or learning space is designed to support learning by doing

Learning by doing is intrinsic in Computer Science, Information Technologies, Artificial Intelligence, and Data Science education. At Ulster, we have a range of state-of-the-art computer laboratories equipped with industry-standard, commercially-relevant hardware and software, which is key in enabling students to develop their skills and expertise in areas such as software design and implementation, immersive software and data analytics. Students spend a large proportion of their time in these laboratory-based learning spaces, carrying out practical activities which are designed to provide an authentic and inclusive industry-inspired experience whilst fostering collaboration amongst staff and students. Our courses are designed in collaboration with industry partners to ensure students get the right balance of theory and hands-on experience to allow them to develop the technical and generic skills which are in high demand amongst employers.

The direct impact of our learning by doing

Students gain significant hands-on experience in the design and implementation of software for real-world challenges. Through this, they develop strong problem-solving and critical thinking skills and are encouraged to be creative and innovative in their approach, to ensure they can carry out software design and development tasks with confidence and good judgement in an industrial setting. Learning takes place in both individual and group settings, ensuring students develop crucial teamwork and communication skills. Students have a rewarding learning experience whilst developing the skills employers seek.

As well as the benefits to students, employers see the direct benefits through the highly skilled and diverse graduates who enter the workforce. Our graduates are work-ready, as reflected in the high employability rates across our courses. They are equipped with the urgently required knowledge and skills needed to integrate into a commercial setting, which contributes to employers achieving their business goals.

How our course or learning space is designed to support learning by doing

Our commitment to learning by doing drives the teaching of our undergraduate and postgraduate courses. For those that want to progress to work in law following undergraduate study, the LLM Access to Justice course offers an experiential learning environment, with students working in our dedicated Law Clinic, providing free legal advice to the public, under the supervision of a solicitor. There is a growing amount of research demonstrating the educational benefit of taking a practical approach to the teaching of the law. The theory behind clinical legal education is that adults learn more effectively when they engage in practical experience alongside more traditional study in lecture theatres. In the LLM Access to Justice course, students are supported to put legal theory into context by being exposed to real clients and ethical choices. Through the process of trial and error, reflective skills are cultivated. On completion of the course, students will have developed core legal skills including interviewing, negotiating, legal drafting, advocacy and advising.

The direct impact of our learning by doing

Law modules generally, by their very nature, require extensive reading and writing skills, requiring students to assimilate large amounts of information and apply it to fictitious problems in an exam environment. The LLM Access to Justice course affords students the opportunity to participate in active learning thus facilitating deeper understanding. Key employability skills, such as teamwork and collaboration, are nurtured. In addition, students are provided with the opportunity to develop and practice their functioning legal knowledge in a digital environment, equipping them with the technological skills already incorporated into most law firms and legal advice organisations. The technology has the dual benefit of facilitating deeper learning of the law for the students whilst also exposing them to the role of technology in the legal sector and equipping them with key employability skills which in turn improves graduate outcomes. The law clinic serves the local Northern Ireland community by offering free legal support and advice in a range of areas, including social security, employment, family and commercial law. Improving access to justice and addressing unmet legal need is at the core of what we do. The clinic supports and collaborates with third sector organisations, as well as legal professionals, to address those aims.
How our course or learning space is designed to support learning by doing

With employability being at the fore in our teaching, it is imperative that students get access to commercial and non-commercial organisations to help demonstrate the integration of theory and practice. Hence, numerous organisations get to come in and work alongside students to help answer some of the key questions they are facing. This is a two-way process, both students and companies benefit from this alignment.

Targeted guest lecturers are also brought in to showcase best practice. Our course content is formed from the views and opinions of industry to ensure we are at the cutting edge of what is required from graduates. We listen to external organisations and align our teaching to their needs. Students also get to practice the things they have been learning, which in turn ensures the application is embedded. It’s a win-win situation for companies and students. More recently, we have witnessed the desire for additional digital skills from industry, which is why we added new modules to give students a broader portfolio of digital skills. Likewise, problem-solving techniques with design thinking at the heart has also been added to the course. These are examples of how academia and practice can benefit each other.

The direct impact of our learning by doing

Students are at the heart of what we do. Ulster University prides itself on its ability to produce work-ready graduates. It is our commitment to make sure our graduates can make the transition from study to the world of work. Placement is integral to this, and we have a strong network of organisations who take students year after year. These relationships help students get the necessary experience and give them relevant discussion points at interview. This experiential learning is further developed with final year students expected to draw on their time in industry to answer pertinent industry-related questions.

The direct impact of our learning by doing

Food and nutrition are vital for health and play a key role in the prevention of disease, therefore this is an area that remains high on the public health agenda. We offer undergraduate courses in Food and Nutrition, Dietetics, Human Nutrition and Sports and Exercise Nutrition. Students are taught by academic staff based within the Nutrition Innovation Centre for Food and Health (NICHE) at Ulster University. NICHE is one of the largest nutrition research groups in Europe and is internationally recognised as a centre of excellence for nutrition education and research. This cutting-edge research is at the core of our teaching, ensuring that we deliver the highest possible student learning experience. During their courses, students conduct a research project under the expert supervision of NICHE staff, thus providing a window into the world of current food and nutrition research. Our courses are delivered in state-of-the-art facilities, using innovative teaching methods and technologies to promote active learning with a practical focus based on ‘real-world’ scenarios. Students are also taught by a range of external experts from the health service, food industry, and government agencies, who bring specific knowledge and perspectives to further enriching the learning experience. All our courses are accredited by the appropriate professional bodies including the British Dietetic Association (BDA), Institute of Food Science and Technology, Association for Nutrition and the BDA Sports and Exercise Nutrition Register.

As a result, our graduates are highly employable and pursue a diverse range of careers including working within the NHS, health promotion, public health, education, research, sports nutrition, and the agri-food sector.

When you join Ulster University, you will be supported by specialist academic teams and highly skilled technicians.

Experts in their field, our technicians apply their skills to bring materials, techniques and state-of-the-art equipment to life, supporting your learning journey every step of the way.

“I was a little nervous in my first pharmacy workshop, but our course technician Nermeen helped me to build my confidence in interacting with patients and encouraged me to be comfortable to make mistakes and try again. She gave me really supportive and constructive feedback during interactive activities such as recording a patient history, taking blood pressure, or working with new medicines. Nermeen even looked after me when I developed an allergic reaction to the gloves used in the lab, and I am so glad that I chose to study at Ulster. I’m looking forward to continuing my studies and to being ready for my future career.”

Fatema Mohammad
Pharmacy, Coleraine

“Richard and fellow technicians in the school have been so important throughout my studies at UU. Throughout my studies, Richard’s positive “we’ll figure it out” approach to challenges or experimental learning has opened my eyes to so many possibilities. From providing technical and moral support to me and my fellow students as we designed and built a race car, to his involvement in the popular engineering student society on campus, Richard’s very practical know-how and guidance encourages me and others to take full advantage of every opportunity, setting us up for success in our chosen subject.”

To be eligible to apply you must:

1. Provide evidence of competence in written and spoken English (GCSE English Language grades A-C/4-9 or equivalent); and
2. Provide evidence of passes in five subjects, two of which must be at A level (grades A-E)* and three at GCSE level (grades A-C/4-9);
3. Provide evidence of passes in four subjects, three of which must be at A level (grades A-E)* and one at GCSE level (grades A-C/4-9); or
4. Provide evidence of an approved qualification at an equivalent level such as Access to Higher Education qualification or equivalent; or
5. Provide evidence, for a process of formal accreditation by the University, of learning you have gained through work or other experience.

The general entrance requirements identify the minimum qualifications needed to apply to a course at Ulster. They set out the range of the most commonly offered acceptable qualifications but do not identify where particular subjects are needed for specific courses, nor do they represent the actual offer standard or ‘asking grades’, which are normally higher than the minimum threshold standard of a pass grade.

This is particularly the case for full-time study where the offer grades are affected by the availability of places on the course and the level of demand. The summary refers to honours degrees. In practice, with regard to A levels, no full-time honours degree will accept fewer than three A level subjects unless presented in combination with other Level 3 qualifications deemed acceptable by the University.

The ‘Equivalence of Qualifications’ table lists the most commonly accepted qualifications and equivalent asking grades. You should refer to the online prospectus at ulster.ac.uk for specific entry requirements to individual courses. Entry requirements for part-time courses vary. Some have identical entry requirements to the full-time version of the same course, whilst others will vary from those of the full-time version. It is important to refer to the online prospectus and/or to contact the course team before making an application for study.

Accreditation of Prior Experiential Learning you have gained from work or other experience may be used to demonstrate your ability to study your chosen course. You must provide evidence of some reasonably substantial and a significant element of learning for a process of formal assessment and accreditation by the University.

You may be required to attend an interview and/or submit a portfolio of evidence.

(Contact Admissions - admissions@ulster.ac.uk)

*GCSE English Language (grades A-C/4-9) may be used as part of the GCSE requirement.  Please refer to the ‘Equivalence of Qualifications’ table for the most common alternative Level 3 Qualifications. Note: Advanced Subsidiary (AS) level subjects, are regarded as 40% of one GCE A level, provided that your profile also contains two GCE A levels or equivalent. *Or equivalent qualifications at Level 3 accepted by the University. You can check the qualifications we accept at: ulster.ac.uk/study/entrance-requirements/undergraduate-entry-requirements and ulster.ac.uk/study/entrance-requirements/equivalence

The University’s prospectus is produced at the earliest possible date in order to provide maximum assistance to individuals considering applying for a course of study offered by the University. The University makes every effort to ensure that the information contained in the prospectus is accurate, but it is possible that some changes will occur between the date of printing and the start of the academic year to which it relates. Please note that the University’s website is the most up-to-date source of information regarding courses, campuses and facilities and we strongly recommend that you always check the website before making any commitment.

2. Although the University at all times endeavours to provide the programmes and services described, the University cannot guarantee the provision of any course or facility and the University may make variations to the contents or methods of delivery of courses, discontinue, merge or combine courses, change the campus at which they are provided and introduce new courses if such action is considered necessary by the University (acting reasonably).
