University of Ulster

Personal Emergency Evacuation Plan

Acceptance

This Personal Emergency Evacuation Plan (PEEP) is a safety management initiative to ensure that the University of Ulster meets its statutory requirements in fulfilling a “duty of care” to students at the University.

This is an individual plan to students with special needs, who may require assistance in the event of an emergency evacuation and is designed to meet such needs where expedition may be restricted, and suitable alternative arrangements are provided in respect of designated “Refuge Points”.

Note

It must be noted that;

- This safety management initiative relies on the accuracy of information supplied by the student.
- Changes to the student study timetable and location of tuition must be relayed to the University’s Health, Safety and Wellbeing office of the relevant campus.
- Relevant changes to the student’s circumstances which would affect emergency evacuation should be communicated to the student’s respective campus health, safety and wellbeing office.
- The locations of the designated “Refuge Points” have been communicated to the student and agreed.
- Any concerns by the student over personal safety issues or plans must be reported immediately to the University’s Health, Safety and Wellbeing Services
- This is an initial Personal Emergency Evacuation Plan; subsequent year plans are available on request to the University’s Student Support office on receipt of students’ study timetable and/or residence acceptance or change (if applicable) at the beginning of the first semester each year.
