

Welcome to Ulster University

Schools Outreach Academy

The Schools Outreach Academy is specifically designed for school pupils aged 8-18.

Through the Schools Outreach Academy, we aim to introduce young people to a range of University subjects and topics through bite-size chunks of learning.

Our courses on this platform vary in size, intensity and subject matter, but all aim to engage the learner in a positive way, in the hope that you may wish to consider study at Ulster University. All our courses are FREE of charge and you will be directly linked to academics and staff from Ulster University throughout your learning. Our courses are hosted on the Open Education by Blackboard website (the system used by students at Ulster University)

Welcome

Ulster University Schools Outreach Academy

Welcome

The Schools Outreach Academy is specifically designed for school pupils aged 16-18. Through the Schools Outreach Academy we aim to introduce young people to a range of University subjects and topics through bite-size chunks of learning. Our courses on this platform vary in size and intensity but all aim to engage the learner in a positive way, in the hope that you may wish to consider study at Ulster University.

Navigating the Schools Outreach Academy

The platform is simple and user friendly. Below you will find a course specific introduction. On the left hand bar you will see the lesson plans, activity worksheets and/or additional reading for the course. We would also encourage you to complete and return the evaluation form for the course. We hope you enjoy this particular course.

Overview

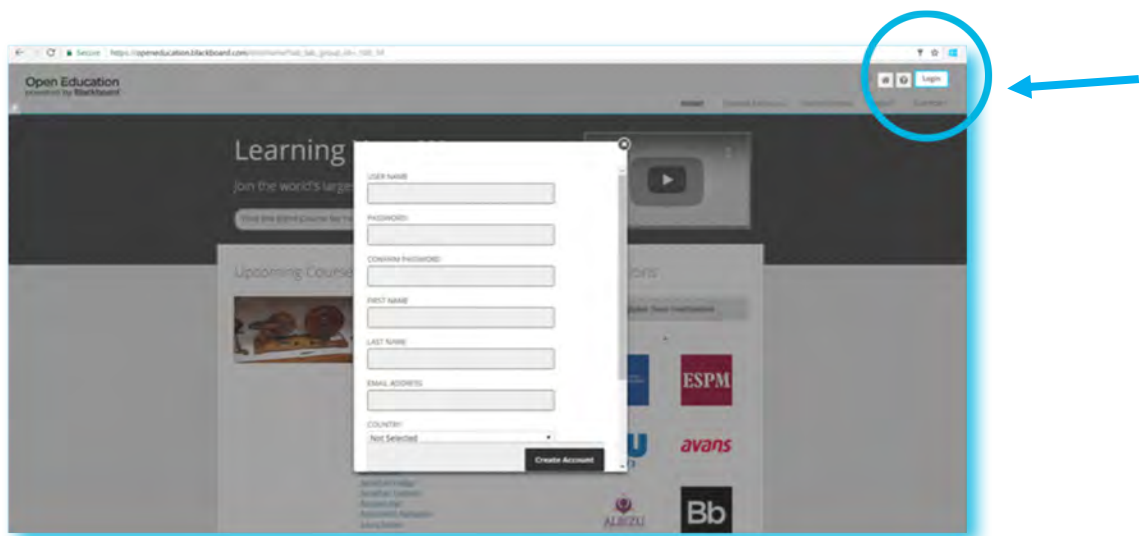

This course is a special session of virtual educational outreach for World Ocean's Day 2020. Owing to the Covid-19 restrictions on Schools, our normal plans of field-based outreach have been unavoidably postponed. We put this exercise together in the hope that it would provide interesting content that reflects our research activities, and might help support the curriculum in Biology and Geography at Key Stage 5.
