Associate Student Guide
Helping you find your way
Welcome to Ulster University

Congratulations on starting your new course! You are now an associate student of Ulster University as you are studying at one of our partner colleges.

As an associate student, you can access a wide range of Ulster resources and facilities, designed to enhance your learning experience. You will be issued with an Ulster University student card which will allow you to use services including the library and the Sports Centre.

Library and information resources

At Ulster, we provide first class teaching and learning resources. Our campus libraries provide a modern learning space with integrated library services and resources, study space and computer facilities.

As an Ulster associate student, you can:

- Consult library books in any of the libraries across our four campuses
- Borrow books.

Responsibilities of associate students

As an Ulster associate student, you should be aware of the following:

• While on Ulster premises and using the equipment or facilities, you are subject to the University’s disciplinary procedure.

• You are subject to the University’s Acceptable Use Code of Practice for computers.

• Awards will not be conferred if there are any monies outstanding to the University, including library fees.
Continue your journey at Ulster University

Graduation may feel a long way off but it’s never too early to start thinking about your next steps. Your current course is a stand-alone qualification, however you can also progress to Ulster University to top-up to a full honours degree. Speak to your course director about the linked programmes available or visit our website for a full list.
